The opinions expressed herein are those of the authors and a compilation of survey participant data. They do not necessarily reflect the views of IAHB and are not attributable to Abbott Laboratories, Janssen Pharmaceutica, Eli Lilly & Company, Glaxo-Wellcome, Inc, Ortho-McNeil Pharmaceutical, Pfizer, Inc, and AstraZeneca or to the publisher, editor, or editorial board of Postgraduate Medicine. The guidelines may contain recommendations for some medications for uses that are not approved within the United States. Clinical judgement must guide each physician in weighing the benefits of treatment against the risk of toxicity. Dosages, indications, and methods of use referred to in the articles may reflect the clinical experience of the authors or may reflect the professional literature or other clinical sources. Please see the full prescribing information on any products mentioned in this publication.

Any set of guidelines can provide only general suggestions for clinical practice; practitioners must use their own judgement in treating and addressing the needs of each individual patient, taking into account that patient's unique clinical situation. There is no representation of the appropriateness or validity of these guideline recommendations for any given patient. The developers of the guidelines disclaim all liability and cannot be held responsible for any problems that may arise from their use.
